62 AW/CC Roll Call

26 February 2014

Team McChord,

"March Madness" is upon us, and I'm not just talking about the basketball tournament! 2014 is off to a busy start so far, and March will be no exception as it will be filled with many unique opportunities. First, our Limited Nuclear Surety Inspection (LNSI) is well under way. Team McChord is off to a great start so far, and I ask that you continue to demonstrate your professionalism and stay focused. Next week the inspection will roll into a Position the Force exercise (CRISIS LOOK 14-02/Operation "COLD SNAP,") from 3-7 Mar. We'll test the ability of Team McChord to coordinate actions to prepare for deployments, process and support personnel, generate aircraft, and conduct flying ops ranging from landings on "semi-prepared" dirt and gravel runways to large formations conducting airdrop training. Lt Gen Brooks Bash, the AMC/CV, will be in town from 2-6 Mar to visit with servicemembers on JBLM and throughout the community. He'll spend some focused time on 5-6 Mar meeting with our Airmen and learning both about our mission and how we take care of each other. And that's just the first week of March! It will be a busy month, but I know that we will continue to shine. Keep up the great work, look out for one other, and let us know how we can continue to make our Air Force strong!

PROFESSIONALS OF THE WEEK

TSgt Justinne Doyle, 62 AW

Next week we'll kick off the 2014 AFAP campaign! Making a contribution to the AFAP is a great way to be a good Wingman and take care of our Airmen and their families who are facing difficult situations. For more information, contact the installation project officers, SMSgt Erik Johnson and MSgt Leda Weslow, and watch for more news during next week's kickoff. Visit <http://www.assistancefund.org> for details.

JBLM Virtual Resiliency Campus

Whether you're new to the military, continuing many years of service, transitioning to civilian life, or part of our team as a civilian Airman, military service presents its own unique challenges and stress. The JBLM Virtual Resiliency Campus provides a myriad of resources, classes, and programs to increase your resiliency and provide support when you need it. Look for the "Ready and Resilient" logo around base and on the MWR website at <http://jblmmwr.com>
