62 AW/CC Roll Call

14 January 2015

Team McChord,

While enjoying the excitement that took place out on the gridiron this past weekend, I thought about how the men and women of Team McChord embody so many of the characteristics common to successful football teams. Like Andrew Luck and the Colts, Joint Basing processes and relationships show great promise and continue to evolve and mature, each year taking steps to improve. Over the years, the Pats have shown that the foundation of excellence is the development and practice of a solid game plan, one deliberately executed with precision and poise. Our game plan involves putting players in a position to win by sharing the expertise and perspective of Airmen with our sister service. We're fortunate to have our 627th ABG Airmen embedded with Soldiers to help foster effective communication, another core tenet of championship teams. Touting more NFL championship seasons than any other franchise, the Packers understand that it's not about the adversity that undoubtedly comes along the way, but rather, about how the team responds to those challenges in order to keep moving the ball forward. Ultimately, it comes down to playing with passion. Every day I see how passionate you are about your job, our Air Force, and our Nation. Just like the Hawks, you too have the spirit of the 12th man...The spirit of a champion!

NSSAV 12-16 Jan

This week, the 62 AW is participating in an AMC/SEW led Nuclear Surety Staff Assisted Visit (NSSAV). The purpose of the NSSAV program is to assist nuclear tasked units, on a non-attribution basis, in maintaining effective nuclear surety programs. The NSSAV is not an inspection, but rather an opportunity to receive assistance from experienced headquarters personnel who write nuclear surety policy and guidance.

On the Horizon...
