62 AW/CC Roll Call

1 Apr 2016

Team McChord,

The recent attacks in Brussels and the shooting at the Capitol are stark reminders of the global terrorist threat. As terrorist and terrorist inspired threats seem to increase, I would like everyone to take a moment and reflect on the growing security concerns that challenge our way of life every day. As Team McChord, we will continue to execute our mission and Deliver Safe and Reliable Global Airlift, doing our part to fight terrorism and defend our freedom.

As spring break and the summer months approach, many of you will be traveling to various destinations both in the U.S. and abroad. As you make your travel plans, consider some of the security threats and take positive measures to avoid or mitigate those threats. Awareness of your surroundings is critically important to identify unusual activity that may indicate something may be amiss. For those individuals deploying or conducting operations around the world, if you have the opportunity to visit areas outside military installations, maintain the same awareness. Whether you are on or off duty, security vigilance is vital to the prevention of attacks...if you see something, say something. Stay safe!
