

The McChord Way...Excellence, Innovation, Respect

62 AW/CC Roll Call

2 March 2017

Team McChord,

Over the course of the previous week, we had the opportunity to highlight the professionalism and dedication of our Airmen to the Inspector General Team as our portion of AMC's Nuclear Mission was evaluated. As a priority of the 62d Airlift Wing, Providing Prime Nuclear Airlift Forces is a true Team McChord effort and could not be accomplished without every member of the team. Thank you for your dedication to our mission and know that our nation is safer because of your efforts.

Don't forget to check out the JBLM Standards Book . This document talks about everything from our history, the Do's and Don'ts to be mindful of while assigned to JBLM, as well as the Vision and Purpose for all Airmen and Soldiers stationed here. Please take some time to familiarize yourself with this document. You can review it on the 62 AW SharePoint here.

On the Horizon...

In addition to the outside look we just received, our local Inspector General team will continue to evaluate our ability to Deliver Safe and Reliable Global Airlift over the coming months as JBLM prepares to host Mobility Guardian in August 2017, a first of its kind mobility exercise showcasing Combat Airlift.

The inspection schedule along with normal mission requirements and daily duties can create a strain on Airmen and their families. As a priority of the 62d Airlift Wing to Develop and Care for Airmen and Their Families, it is important to take leave that you have earned and enjoy all that the Pacific Northwest has to offer while stationed at our one-of-a-kind Joint Base.

As well as taking the time to recharge during your well-deserved off time, it is also important not to neglect the professional development of you or your subordinates. Professional development can take many forms but one of the most basic and overlooked in the high ops-tempo environment that we often find ourselves in is the opportunity for formal and informal mentoring. One upcoming opportunity for informal mentoring is on 3 March with the latest installment of our Lunch & Leadership Lecture series with a presentation by Lt Col Jaron Roux, 62 OSS/CC, titled "Leading in Your Own Skin: What it means to lead in the USAF and still be YOU!" This event is open to all Team McChord personnel interested in leadership related topics and will take place at 1130 in the Chapel Support Center. Don't forget to bring your lunch!

Thank you for everything that you continue to do as part of Team McChord. As we progress through the upcoming inspection schedule and prepare for Mobility Guardian, I know that you will continue to showcase the professionalism embodied in the McChord Way.
