

BIOGRAPHY

UNITED STATES AIR FORCE

LIEUTENANT COLONEL JORDAN P. NORMAN

Lt. Col. Jordan P. Norman is the Commander, 7th Airlift Squadron, 62nd Operations Group, 62nd Airlift Wing, McChord Field, Joint Base Lewis-McChord, Washington. In this position he leads and oversees the training and readiness of C-17A combat aircrews in order to provide responsive and professional global mobility to national leadership. The 7th Airlift Squadron is responsible for securing U.S. interests through the effective support of contingency, aeromedical, and humanitarian missions utilizing the airland and airdrop capabilities of the C-17A, across the full spectrum of military operations.

Lt. Col. Norman hails from Smyrna, Tennessee and entered the Air Force in 2001 as a graduate of Middle Tennessee State University and the Reserve Officer Training Corps program at Tennessee State University. During his tenure in the United States Air Force he has held various aircrew flying positions in the C-17A to include Instructor Pilot, Lead Airdrop Instructor, Special Operations Low Level II Left Seat Instructor, and Weapons Officer. He has served as the 7th Airlift Squadron Operations Officer, where he led 134 combat pilots and loadmasters operating the C-17A Globemaster III on missions supporting national security requirements. He has also served as a C-17A Weapons Instructor Course Assistant Operations Officer, Phase Manager, and Instructor of Record where he was responsible for the development of the nation's new Weapons Officers. When at Headquarters Air Mobility Command, he served as Deputy Chief, Requirements Division, responsible for a $350 billion and 1,160 aircraft portfolio. In this capacity he directed the C-5 fleet Reliability Enhancement Re-Engine program; led the Air Force One recapitalization effort; drove an aggressive $53 billion KC-46 delivery schedule; and assured the viability of 13 Major Weapons Systems across 7 Commands and 12 Allied Nations. He is a distinguished graduate of the C-17 Weapons Instructor Course, Squadron Officer School, Air Command and Staff College, and C-17 Initial Qualification.

Lt. Col. Norman is a senior pilot with over 3,200 hours in the C-17A, T-1A, and T-37B, including almost 400 combat hours.
